Chapter 1 by That Grammar Geek

A wild Llamacorn appears.

The Llamacorn challenges you to a game.

Llamacorn - "Exaggerate the following by a little..."

Llamacorn - "And then exaggerate the exaggeration in the next chapter."

Llamacorn - "Ready? Begin!"

EXAGGERATE THIS: I saw my crush.

Chapter 2 by -

The dearest most handsome and muscular man alive on this weak planet!

Chapter 3 by Magic For the Damned

Exaggerate off of this, and so forth!

His muscles were so bulgy that it looked like tumors.

His face was so handsome that it looks like a Michelangelo statue, only better.

Ladies swooned at the mere thought of him.

Gentlemen died by the dozens in jealousy.

Chapter 4 by -

The whole world was after this fateful man. The women just wanted at least one glimpse of him before they died of a longing heart. And the men died because they knew that they could never be like this wanted man.

The world was turning upside down over him. And it was rather unsettling.

Chapter 5 by -

Millions of people were falling up and down, this way and that way. As the world slowly moved its position. The north pole was no longer north. The south pole was no longer south. The east was west and the west was east. The whole earth was in chaos. Directions were meaningless. Life seemed meaningless to all those who could not find their way to The Man.

Chapter 6 by robin hood

And the universe imploded.

Chapter 7 by robin hood

Imploded, not exploded. Everything (plus more) in the whole universe (and other parallel universes) caved into the one life form that mattered above and beyond every single living homo sapien that ever existed in all the universes that have ever (and before and after ever) existed.
